

mm), NHTSA explained that the increase in lens area is necessary because wide vehicles “are susceptible to build up of grime” and “an increase in lens area would enhance vehicle conspicuity and contribute to safety.”

Winnebago says that around July 2022, it was informed by a lamp supplier that there were concerns about the compliance of turn signals installed in certain Winnebago vehicles. Specifically, with the “minimum effective projected luminous area requirements of FMVSS No. 108.” Winnebago says they investigated the turn signals in the subject vehicles and confirmed that the “effective projected luminous lens area” is 6,361 square millimeters and thus, approximately 1,139 square millimeters smaller than the required minimum lens area.

Winnebago says that other than the size of the effective projected luminous lens area for the turn signals in the subject vehicles, the turn signals are otherwise fully compliant with all applicable performance requirements. Winnebago states that the turn signals at issue “have been in use for more than 15 years” and “is not aware of any crashes, injuries, customer complaints or field reports in connection with this noncompliance.” Winnebago states its belief that although the turn signal lens area is slightly smaller than the required minimum, they are still “likely to be imperceptible to both vehicle occupants and approaching drivers, and do not have an effect on the conspicuity of the motorhomes on which they are installed.”

Winnebago states its belief that NHTSA increased the required minimum lens area for turn signals in wide vehicles due to the concern of buildup of grime and dirt. Winnebago claims that the turn signals on motorhomes “are generally well maintained by their owners compared to other classes of wide vehicles. Thus, a slightly smaller turn signals would not reasonably result in a buildup of dirt and grime on turn signals . . .”

Winnebago concludes by stating its belief that the subject noncompliance is inconsequential to motor vehicle safety and its petition for relief from providing notice and remedy for the noncompliance be granted.

NHTSA notes that the statutory provisions (49 U.S.C. 30118(d) and 30120(h)) that permit manufacturers to file petitions for a determination of inconsequentiality allow NHTSA to exempt manufacturers only from the duties found in sections 30118 and 30120, respectively, to notify owners, purchasers, and dealers of a defect or noncompliance and to remedy the defect or noncompliance. Therefore, any decision on this petition only applies to the subject motorhomes that Winnebago no longer controlled at the time it determined that the noncompliance existed. However, any decision on this petition does not relieve vehicle distributors and dealers of the prohibitions on the sale, offer for sale, or introduction or delivery for introduction into interstate commerce of the noncompliant motorhomes under their control after Winnebago notified them that the subject noncompliance existed.
